Johnson Plays Down Meany Statements

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is not the man to magnify in public any differences with individuals or groups so long as he thinks there may be a chance to persuade them to return to camp.

This does much to explain Johnson's easy manner Tuesday when a girl reporter at an impromptu news conference asked about the recent statement of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.
Meany had said in the future the huge labor organization would not be allied with either Democrats or Republicans. Johnson told the questioner she was apparently more distressed about this than he was.
But there was something Johnson could hardly forget even as he tried to make the best of an unhappy situation by saying that in his view the AFL-CIO has always been independent and should be.

The labor organization backed him in the 1964 presidential race and the AFL-CIO backed Democratic presidential candidates in election after election for years.
The AFL-CIO support is a very big and important help to the Democrats.
But now it is irritated with the Democrats and Meany is disenchanted with them, as he explained in a very emphatic and biting way. I was enough to give Democrats some chills about this year's congressional elections.

Meany blasted the Democrats for failing to deliver on promises and laid down political independence as agol for the AFL-CIO although it has backed the Democratic party for more than a generation.
"It is quite obvious," he said, "that if we are looking around for a party to adopt and control that we don't want the Democratic party because they can't deliver."
"So we can't buy either party. We don't work for any political party, whether it is Republican, Democrat, or anything else."

In recent years, besides 1964, the AFL-CIO endorsed the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, 1956 and 1960.
But Meany suggested labor return to the policy of one of its early leaders, Samuel Gompers: supporting individual candidates on their voting records, regardless of party, rather than political parties.
At the moment labor has two big gripes:
1. That the Johnson administration didn't work hard enough to break the Senate filibuster which killed labor's attempt to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. This section lets states outlaw the union shop.
But Meany noted that the one who led the filibuster to keep section 14B in the law was the Republicans' Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Meany called him the "new darling of the conservatives."

2. The attempt by the Johnson administration to limit wage increases to 3.2 per cent, which was the figure set down as a guideline by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.
There has been some talk within labor's ranks of setting up a labor party in this country but Meany wants no part of that, saying a third party isn't the solution.

RAW MATERIAL—The children, residents of Tanzania, give an idea of the size of this valuable find near Africa's famed Mt. Kilimanjaro. Not any old rock, it's the largest single piece ever found of meerschaum, the porous mineral that is raw material for valuable pipes. This chunk, weighing only 130 pounds despite its bulk, should yield about 1,500 pipes. Tanzania leads the world in production of meerschaum.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Relaxation Is Best Cure For Acid Indigestion

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband has excessive acidity. It backs up from his stomach and causes pain in his chest. What do you advise?
A—Acid indigestion, sour stomach, water brash and heartburn are common names for the symptoms you describe. The stomach contents are normally acid, so everything would be fine if they would only stay where they belong. As soon as they start to rise in the world, they irritate the esophagus, even though they may not be brought as high as the throat.

The most usual cause of heartburn is eating too fast, especially the hurried lunch taken at one's desk while tense with concentration on the job. Highly-spiced foods, greasy foods, too much concentrated sweet or a large amount of citrus fruit juice will usually aggravate the condition. In some persons, a tight belt will have the same effect. Excessive smoking and drinking are contributory causes.
Antacid tablets usually give temporary relief, but only by avoiding the causes mentioned, and especially by relaxing at mealtime, can the condition be corrected.
Soda bicarbonate, the old antacid standby, should not be used because it aggravates the heartburn. It neutralizes the acid but stimulates more acid secretion—the so-called rebound phenomenon. Furthermore, if taken in excessive amounts, it reduces the acidity of the blood to a dangerous level.

In persons who have this complaint over a period of more than two weeks, it is important to have a doctor rule out coronary heart disease and hiatus or diaphragmatic hernia.
Q—What is Salutensin used for? Could it have any bad effects?
A—This is a combination of a diuretic, a tranquilizer and a blood pressure reducer. It has the advantage of effectively lowering the blood pressure in doses well below the dangerous level for all three components. It should not be taken by persons who are also taking digitalis or who have skipped beats. Too large a dose may cause nausea, dizziness and general lassitude.

Q—Are there any harmful effects from taking Proloid over a period of years?
A—Thyroglobulin (Proloid) is given as replacement therapy for thyroid deficiency. It should not be taken by persons with high blood pressure or angina pectoris unless they have a low basal metabolic rate. Undesirable side-effects occur when too large a dose is given. The chief of these would be rapid pulse and jittery nerves.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Unable to Shed That Gussie Label

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It's been 17 years since Gertrude Moran of Santa Monica, Calif., shocked the staid center court gallery at Wimbledon but she's been unable to shed the label of "Tennis' Lace Panties Girl."

"I've become a real authority on pants — stretch pants, ski pants, Capri pants, any kind of pants," Gussie lamented today.

"A doctor in London says girls should wear long pants to work instead of knee-length dresses to keep from catching cold, and who do they call for reaction? Me."

"Down in Australia they banish an American woman golfer for showing up in shorts. My phone rings all day. Reporters must have the Moran reaction."

"Nobody remembers that I was the fourth-ranked woman player in the United States and that I beat Nancy Chaffee for the National Indoor championship in 1949."

"Everybody said, 'Oh, well, Nancy was up 'til 3 in the morning. They didn't know I was up 'til 5.'"

Gussie has worn well since she appeared on Wimbledon's sacred center court in tight-fitting white panties with a sexy lace ruffle across the bottom.

She is about 20 pounds slimmer, her hair is close-cropped instead of in braids, reddish instead of coal black and she bustles with bounce and bon mots.

She is now tennis instructor at the swank Lake Encino Racquet Club in the San Fernando Valley in California, where some of her pupils are movie stars — Jane Russell, Alan Young, Dick and Jerry Van Dyke.

Gussie, who also has had a career as sports commentator and fashion designer, is here to do TV commentary Saturday on the final of Jack Kramer's $25,000 pro tennis tournament at Madison Square Garden.

"People are always stopping me on the street and asking slyly: 'Where are they, Gussie, have you still got them on?' Then they laugh uproariously. Sometimes they'll say, 'Oh, I remember those cute gold lame things.'"

"That was Karol Fageros. So I tell them to go throw their hat in the Pacific and don't turn loose of it."

The famous bit of wearing apparel is preserved in the bedroom closet of Miss Moran's mother in Santa Monica.

About 240 million telephone conversations are held every day in the United States, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Roaring 20's vs Somber 60's? Dear Helen: As one of the top "roarers" of the Roaring 20's, I can say college young people haven't changed much in their moral attitudes — the good still stay good; and the rounders still get around — but they sure go about it differently! I'm talking about the minority here — the wild ones.

In the day of the raccoon coat the hip flask and the flapper, sex was good fun. Nowadays sex is for a Cause. You can't tell me those free-speech, free-love, long-hairs enjoy themselves. They're too busy promoting, and they make themselves ridiculous, which is probably what they want. Anything for publicity.

In my hey-day, everyone strummed a banjo. Now it's guitars. We wore shaggy coats. Now the shag is on the head. We stumped for "companionate marriage" though we didn't really mean it. Now, it's "shackin' up," and they soon wish they hadn't. Female attire? Hardly changed at all.

Yep, the props are quite similar, but all the fun is gone. This segment of the young generation doesn't know who to enjoy. They are too busy trying to prove something, they know not what.

And maybe that's why they're going "camp". When you begin to feel crawly about your life, you swing to old copposite extreme, like Rin Tin Tin movies and a cookie lift for the men in Viet Nam.

Does this make sense to anyone but me? — Just Thinking

Dear J.T.: It makes lots of sense — but I'm glad you mentioned "minority" in the first paragraph. Contrary to a popular fear among parents, not all college people join far-out marches, use pep pills and shack up. —H.

Under The Counter Drug Won't Make You Taller

Dear Helen: I stopped growing at five feet four, and, for a man, that's bad. All that jazz about "Stature not inches" is fine for people who never had girls look down on them. Me, I'd give ten years of my life for a few more inches in height.

I heard of a drug that isn't on prescription yet — you can get it down at the gym. It's supposed to work on the pituitary gland and make you grow. They say it's "Experimental but proved." But like a lot of things, doctors won't take it up.

Have you heard of this, and should I try it? — Shorty

Dear Shorty: Yes, I've heard of this drug, and you should not, repeat NOT! try it! Moreover, you should report its under the counter sale to your local Public Health office. It will not make you grow taller, and it could be dangerous! — H.

Note to readers: Why can't people realize their doctors know best. — H.

Your Helping Hand Department

Dear Helen: Our grandson, age 17, has been ill since last August with a rare blood disease. He has been in and out of hospitals, but nothing seems to check it. Now he must be in bed most of the time. He is an only child and I know mail would cheer him. His address: Charles E. Brooks III, 7750 N. W. 28th Street, West Hollywood, Florida 33624. Mail from young people would be especially helpful. Thank you in advance. — Grandparents.

Longer Life Is Predicted

— "If medicine advances as much in the next 25 years as it has in the past 25, some people may have to be shot for every one to be dead on Judgment Day," a former president of the American Medical Association said.

Dr. Edward R. Annis, a Miami surgeon and also past president of the World Medical Association, told an education conference Thursday people were living longer because many diseases, such as diphtheria and small pox, had been conquered.

Royal and Hawks Have 1-0 Leads

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Suddenly, it's the home-court disadvantage in the National Basketball Association.

Forced to play the odd game on enemy courts after finishing third in their divisions, the Cincinnati Royals and St. Louis Hawks have jumped into 1-0 leads in the best-of-five semifinal playoffs.

Cincinnati started the form reversal Wednesday in Boston, upending the peennail champion Celtics 107-103. Then on Thursday night, St. Louis squeezed past the Bullets in Baltimore, 113-111.

Action in the Eastern Division playoffs resumes Saturday in Cincinnati, when Boston tests the new win-on-the-road theory. On Sunday, the series shifts back to Boston and St. Louis plays again in Baltimore.

St. Louis was confronted with an imposing task in whipping the Bullets. The Hawks had lost seven straight in Baltimore's Civic Center, where the Bullets had won 27 of their last 31. In the seasonal series, Baltimore held a 7-3 edge over St. Louis.

But the Hawks, after blowing a 13-point lead, won in the last 52 seconds on a driving basket by jumpin' Joe Caldwell, a one-hand corner shot by Len Wilkens and two free throws by Wilkens.

Caldwell, who averaged 12.7 points during the season, finished with 33 points after hitting his first six shots to spark a 21-11 St. Louis lead. Wilkens scored 27 points and was credited with seven assists.

Don Ohl of Baltimore led all scorers with 38 points. But St. Louis player-coach Richie Guerin turned in perhaps the most amazing performance. The 33-year-old veteran, who will retire as a player after the playoffs, scored 20 points, had 12 assists and — believe it or not — played the entire game.

"That's the first time I've played 48 minutes in I don't know how many years," Guerin said. "And I wasn't tired at the end."

Dodgers May Have More Money Trouble

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Now the Los Angeles Dodgers can start worrying about Don Sutton and Joe Moeller asking for a million dollars.

The young right-handers, seeking spots on the depleted Dodger pitching staff, turned in a collectively brilliant performance Thursday as Los Angeles won only its third game of the spring, whipping Cincinnati 6-0.

Sutton, who will be 21 next week, allowed only one hit through the first five innings, and Moeller, 23 last month, gave up two of the rest of the way.

That gave Sutton a spring record of two runs and four hits for 11 1-3 innings while Moeller has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings.

Their performances undoubtedly are encouraging to Manager Walter Alston, who faces defense of the world championship without the nucleus of the championship team — pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

The Dodgers are no closer to signing their aces now than they were four weeks ago—when the pair became holdouts.

Koufax and Drysdale, who won 49 games between them last season, want three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each, but the Dodgers want to pay Koufax $100,000 and Drysdale $85,000, both under one-year pacts.

With the two on the sidelines, Sutton seeks to replace one of them and Texas Leagues last fall. While playing in the California after only one year of pro season, Sutton compiled a 23-7 record while completing 24 of 31 starts.

Moeller is making his third try at gaining a permanent spot on the pitching staff. He was with the Dodgers for part of the 1962 season and for all of the 1964 season, but his total record was 13-18. He spent last year with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League where he was 7-10.

In increasing their record to 3-9, the Dodgers received help from Cincinnati's Deron Johnson who is playing left fielder after starting at third base last year. With two out and the bases loaded in the fourth inning, Johnson dropped Nate Oliver's fly ball in short left, allowing three runners score.

In another three-hitter, California edged the Chicago Cubs 1-0 on Ed Bailey's run-scoring single in the second inning. Jim McGlothlin, Lou Burdette and Chuck Estrada stopped the Cubs.

Kansas City snapped Detroit's seven-game winning streak 6-5, the winning run coming across on Wayne Causey's two-out, ninth-inning single but the Chicago White Sox extended their winning streak to seven, beating Minnesota 8-6 on Tommy Agee's two-run homer in the ninth.

Boston, on the other hand, suffered its sixth straight setback, dropping an 11-4 decision to Atlanta. Joe Torre hit a to run homer for the Braves while Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou each had three hits.

Roberto Clemente's eighth-inning homer snapped a tie and sent Pittsburgh to a 7-5 triumph over the New York Mets while Ron Brandt's two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth gave Houston a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

St. Louis bombed the New York Yankees 12-4 as Mike Shannon drove in five runs, and Orlando Cepeda's 500-foot blast led a four-homer barrage that powered San Francisco past Cleveland 10-4.

Ark., LSU Get Record Share

DALLAS (AP) — Louisiana State and Arkansas each received a record $230,107.26 for playing in the Cotton Bowl football game Jan. 1.

It was the largest payoff by almost $15,000 in the 30-year history of the football classic. Both Louisiana State and Arkansas will share with other members of their respective conferences. Arkansas retains $100,000 and gets a prorata share (one eighth of the remainder). This means Arkansas will receive a total of more than $116,000.

The distribution of Louisiana State's share is determined by Southeastern Conference regulations.

Announcement of the record payment was made today at the annual meeting of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association.

Contract Given for Pressbox

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The War Memorial Stadium Commission awarded a $348,859 contract Thursday for construction of a new pressbox. It is expected to be completed in time for the first University of Arkansas football game here next fall.

Phil B. Baldwin Inc. of Little Rock got the contract.

Ed Keith of Magnolia, stadium commission chairman, said "We're going to have a pressbox second to none."

Stadium Manager Allen Berry said the new pressbox will be almost three times as long as the one now at the stadium.

The state legislature appropriated $200,000 for the facility and the rest of the cost will come from sale of 1,000 "life seats" 200 of which will be in the first deck of the pressbox.

The second deck will be for the press and the third deck for radio and television representatives and photographers.

Players Named To All Stars

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Four college basketball players from Arkansas have been named honorable mention All-Stars by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

They are Robert Allen of Arkansas AMN at Pine Bluff, Bob Dobson of Little Rock University, Tommy Kay of Arkansas A&M and Ted Woodson of Henderson.

Brewer Leads Field With Hot Streak

By F. T. MACFEELEY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—If Gay Brewer Jr. can keep his mind off an imminent operation on his 18-month-old daughter, he is in a good spot to continue the hottest streak in pro golf the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open heads into the second round today.

One stroke off the six-under-par 66 pace set Thursday by Tommy Bolt, Brewer figured in a strong position because of the consistency of recent months when he won four tournaments.

But he admitted he is concerned about the little daughter, Kelly, who has been in a cast and is scheduled for an operation on her hip Monday. The trouble is a defect apparently existing since birth, he explained.

Brewer will head home to Dallas as soon as the 72-hole tourney ends Sunday.

He was able to concentrate well enough in his steady first round 34-37, with five birdies and only once coming close to a bogey.

For Bolt — whose expert shots over the past 20 years have been overshadowed by his reaction to a bad one by smashing a club against a tree — all was serene through his 34-32-66.

"I'm just beginning to wake up," he quipped. He said a doctor prescribed some pills for a swelling in his hands at the Citrus Open in Orlando last weekend and "they made me so weak I could hardly walk for two days."

The 47-year-old Bolt, owner of a par 3 course at Sarasota, Fla., no longer is a regular on the tour.

Neither is Ed Furgol, 49, former National Open champion who shot a 33-34-67 to tie Brewer for second place after 18 holes.

A crowd of 59 — all eager for the $13,500 first prize — were jammed into a bundle at par 72 or better.

Miller Barber, 34, of San Antonio, Tex., and three younger regulars on the tour opened with 68s. Dave Hill, 28, of Evergreen, Colo.; Jack Rule Jr., 27, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Dave Stockton, 24, of San Bernardino Calif., shared the spot two strokes out of the lead.

Wind bothered the late starters — including Masters champ Jack Nicklaus at 70, U.S. Open champ Gary Player at 72 — without, he said a good putt all day — and PGA champ Dave Marr at 74.

Dan Sikes, the hometown favorite, had 71 along with defending champion Bert Weaver of Broadwater Beach, Miss.

Clay To Carry Most Weight Of His Career

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay probably will carry the most weight of his 5½-year pro-career Tuesday night when he risks his heavyweight crown against Canadian George Chuvalo.

As the undefeated Louisville Lip and the Canadian champion headed into their final boxing drills, Clay's trainer-manager, Angelo Dundee, said he expected his charge to weigh about 212 pounds.

That would be 1½ pounds more than the fast-moving, fast-punching Clay has ever scaled for a fight. He weighed 210½ when he dethroned Sonny Liston 25 months ago on a seventh-round technical knockout at Miami Beach.

"The weight will be fine for him," Dundee said today. "Cassius is still a growing boy."

Clay supposedly came into town 10 days ago weighing 227. He has complained that the various distractions — getting an opponent and a site for the fight and appealing draft reclassification — have made it difficult for him to get into shape.

The champ probably will have a few pounds on Chuvalo, the 28-year-old body banger who usually weighs between 206 and 210 for his fights. Manager Irv Ungerman said Chuvalo will weigh about 209 for his big moment.

The strong-jawed Toronto mauler weighed 206½ last Jan. 25 when he was beaten by Eduardo Corleto, the unranked Argentine, in London.

Chuvalo, loser of two of his last three fights, is ranked 10th by the World Boxing Association and ninth by Ring Magazine.

Both fighters expect to spar at least twice within the next three days and then coast until fight time.

Arkansas Weather

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One mass of cold air is moving out of the state, but another is moving in, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today, and the shifting patterns could bring rain to southwestern Arkansas late Saturday or Sunday.

Clear to partly cloudy skies will prevail through Saturday and it will be warmer in most sections of the state except northern Arkansas, the bureau said.

Maximum temperatures in the 50s and low 60s were predicted today and high readings mostly in the 60s are forecast Saturday. Sunday weather will be cloudy with showers beginning over the southwest portion the bureau said.

Maximum temperatures Thursday ranged from 40 degrees at Fayetteville and Harrison to 56 degrees at El Dorado.

Overnight low readings ranged from 21 degrees at Fayetteville to 30 degrees at Texarkana.

No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m.

Litth rain and snow fell across wide areas of the Northeast today but skies cleared in most of the storm-stricken Plains and north central states.

The wet belt in the Northeast extended from the Great Lakes region and Ohio Valley into the Northern and Middle Atlantic Coast states. Heaviest precipitation was in New York State and New England. Rain mixed with snow fell in many sections but generally amounts were light.

The death-dealing snowstorm which slammed across the Plains and the north central states spread northeastward Thursday and more than a foot of snow fell at Marquette, Mich., making a covering of more than two feet on the ground. More than nine inches fell in sections of western Pennsylvania.

At least 35 deaths were attributed to the blizzard in the Plains and north central region, the second to hit some parts of the storm belt in March. Included were 21 in Nebraska, 7 in Minnesota, 3 in Iowa and 2 each in South Dakota and Wyoming.

Temperatures were zero and in the teens in snow-covered Minnesota but there was a slight warming trend in the Dakotas where the mercury reached the 20s.

GOOD TO BE FREE—Dancing in the streets, at least before prisons, was the order in Accra as barred doors swung open to release political opponents locked up by Ghana's deposed President Kwame Nkrumah.

JUNGLE JEWELRY—Soft drink cans which find their way to New Guinea aren't discarded as trash when empty. Far from unwanted, the glittery, tin-coated steel cans are prized as jewelry by natives of the mountainous, jungle-covered Pacific island. Here, Brother Claude Mattingly of Cumberland, Md., with a Capuchin mission, presents two of his parishioners with new bracelets.

SPCA STAMP—A commemorative five-cent stamp marking the 100th anniversary of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be issued April 9 with ceremonies in New York City, where the society was founded. The black, white and terra cotta stamp features the four-year-old mongrel dog, named Babe, of the artist, Norman Todhunter.

DISSENT EXPRESSED—A smoke bomb explodes behind the horse-drawn royal carriage, lower left, as street rioting in Amsterdam marred the wedding of Netherlands Crown Princess Beatrix and West German diplomat Claus von Amsberg. The bridegroom's past as a member of the Hitler Youth and Nazi Wehrmacht sparked the violent protest demonstrations.

MUSEUM PIECE—Veteran pilot Otto Brauer, whose own first flight was in 1914, looks over the pride of West Berlin's Transportation Museum, a newly acquired model of a plane called the "Demoiselle" when it was the latest thing in the air back in 1907-10. There was a plane of this type in the movie, "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines."

TRAINING AID—It may look like a child's toy, but it has a deadly serious purpose. Capt. Thomas Paoulakidas of Phoenix, Ariz., examines a crude model of an American plane used to train Viet Cong gunners. It was captured by American troops during a sweep through guerrilla territory in South Viet Nam's central highlands.

GIFT FROM THE SEA?—The finest beach at Marseilles, France, looks more like the city dump. Not the treasures of the deep, but refuse cast into the sea by careless humans was deposited on the beach after inundation by a Mediterranean tidal wave.

ROCKETS ON THE LINE—It's not quite mass production yet, but with the quickening tempo of space exploration techniques in constructing the monster, launch vehicles are moving toward an assembly line basis. Above, three Saturn-IBs are lined up at NASA's Michoud Assembly Facility at New Orleans with work in varying stages of completion on the business ends of the giant rockets. From New Orleans, the Saturns are shipped by barge to the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., for static testing and then to Cape Kennedy, eventually to power payloads into space.

FIRST TWO—The first two flight versions of the booster for the new Saturn V launch vehicle are being readied for testing at the NASA Huntsville, Ala., Marshall Space Flight Center. Assembly and testing of two more of the giant boosters also is under way at Huntsville.

NO HONEYMOON—Bernalillo County, N.M., Sheriff Joe Wilson, left, removes handcuffs from Clifford Kizer for Kizer's marriage to Joanne Mayes of Albuquerque in the sheriff's office. The unfettering was only temporary for Kizer, sentenced to prison on a murder conviction.

CHANGING TIMES—These side-by-side clock towers in Breitenbach, Switzerland, measure the changing times as well as the time of day. The ultramodern concrete tower at left rises over a new church constructed to replace the old church, right, destined to be demolished as past its time.

HAIRY HASSLE—A hairy question developed into a free-for-all at Pacific Palisades, Calif., high school, when the short-shorn football team attempted to block out students protesting the school's short haircut policy. The shaggy students marched under the slogan "A Hairy Herd is a Happy Herd."

Massive Section for Keystone Turbine

Power-producing hydraulic turbines, for the most part, are buried in concrete. This assembly of embedded parts in the York (Pa.) plant of Allis-Chalmers will never see the light of day after installation in Keystone Dam in northeastern Oklahoma. Keystone is a major unit in the multiple purpose plan for development of the Arkansas river basin. Allis-Chalmers is building two 49,000 horsepower turbines for the project.

Another time when you do not play third hand high occurs when you want to make it possible for your partner to lead your suit if he can get back in the lead later on.

Many players would open a heart in spite of their partner's spade overall and once in a while would be rewarded by striking oil in the form of the right three hearts in partner's hand. This West was one of those old-fashioned players who believes in opening his partner's suits so he led the eight of spades.

This gave East the chance to set the hand by a play of third hand low and he proceeded to make the play. Of course, he didn't play his lowest spade. Instead he played the nine spot. He wasn't going to win the trick with the nine but he was able to convey the message that he wanted a further spade play if his partner ever gained the lead.

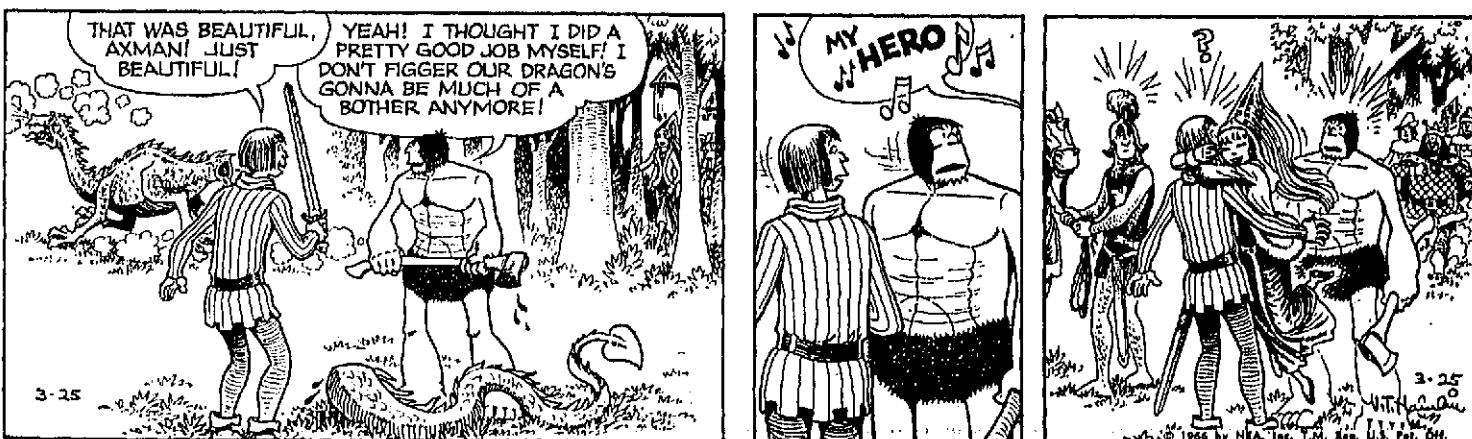

The opportunity for this type of play arises frequently. This specific example is a very obvious one. East doesn't see much chance to beat three no-trump in any case. He does not know that his partner holds the queen of diamonds and king of clubs. East can't see much chance but he can see no chance at all if he goes up with a high spade right away.

It always pays to give the cards a chance. By ducking, East did just that and was rewarded by picking up a 100-point penalty instead of paying off to a successful three no-trump contract.

The Wind of Change Hits Indonesia

EDITOR'S NOTE—Stanley M. Swinton, an assistant general manager of The Associated Press, first went to Indonesia in early 1946 and headed The AP's Jakarta office in 1946-47 during the Indonesian fight for independence. Tuesday he was one of the first American newsmen admitted to the country since President Sukarno expelled U. S. news representatives Jan. 19.

By STANLEY M. SWINTON

JAKARTA (AP) — The wind of fundamental change apparently is sweeping across Indonesia.

President Sukarno officially remains chief of state, but army Lt. Gen. Suharto and his military allies hold the real power.

The best-informed sources in this hot and humid capital believe the new leaders are far more than a military junta. They expect Suharto and his colleagues to install a primarily civilian government with powerful military backing behind the scenes.

Internationally, Indonesia's new regime is expected to be neutralist in deed as well as word. Sukarno gave lip service to neutralism but moved steadily toward the Chinese Communist camp. The new Indonesia is expected to follow the type of international role played by the late Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Men long on the scene here predict that in the years immediately ahead, Indonesia's new leaders will dedicate themselves to restoring the nation's shattered economy.

Food is the immediate problem. Rice is the staple for Indonesia's more than 105 million people. Today it costs 30 times what it did 14 months ago.

The rains came late this year, so the rice harvest will not take place until May, a month late. In the chaos of the last year, transport was disrupted, so that rice shortages have been aggravated in the cities and in such densely populated rural areas as Central and East Java.

So far Indonesia's new leaders have not asked for outside assistance to meet the growing food shortage. When they do, they are likely to turn to Japan or some other similar nation, rather than to the United States or the Soviet Union.

This would avoid any internal criticism that the new regime is turning either toward the Americans or the Soviets.

When the food crisis has been surmounted, Indonesia's leaders must face the herculean task of rebuilding the whole economy. While the economies of other nations have been growing, the per capita gross national product in Indonesia has declined between one and two per cent each year for a decade.

Meanwhile, Indonesia's population has been growing at an estimated 2.5 per cent a year.

The 3,000 luxuriant islands which make up the Indonesian Archipelago basically are underpopulated. But Java, with seven per cent of Indonesia's land area, has 70 per cent of the population. Tied to their fabled island by history and tradition, only a few thousand Javanese emigrate to the sparsely populated outer islands. In Central Java, one of the most densely inhabited areas on earth, population growth is a staggering 2.7 per cent a year.

Unlike India, where a government birth control program is slowly beginning to show some results, nothing has been done in Indonesia to reduce population growth.

Indonesia's new leaders recognize that their overwhelming problem is to build an economy which can feed the exploding population and give each Indonesian more of the material benefits so long denied him.

Ever since the Japanese army of occupation installed him as Indonesia's leader during World War II, Sukarno has been the man who symbolized independence in the minds of Indonesia's masses.

"Man does not live by bread alone," the aging Bung — Big Brother — Karno would shout as he played his role of father of the nation, orator, and oracle.

But man does not live by slogans alone either. The fierce appeals to nationalism which brought cheers and devotion 20 years ago faded with repetition. Foreign aid — mainly from the United States and the Soviet Union — propped up an incredibly disorganized economy. But then foreign aid ran out, too.

It was the young people of Indonesia — university and high school students — who went into the streets to drive an effective wedge between Sukarno and the people who had for so many years idolized him.

The student movement represents the best in Indonesian youth, according to people long stationed here. They say that the students who led the demonstrations will be the leaders of Indonesia tomorrow. They were willing to risk their lives to insure Indonesia's future.

Presbyterians Plan Next Meet

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will hold its 1968 session in Atlanta.

The denomination, with churches in 16 states, will hold its session in Montreat, N.C., this year, and at Bristol, Tenn., in 1967.

Experience Not Vital for Justices

By JAMES MARLOW

Associate Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) —

Should the Supreme Court's nine justices, including the chief justice, have previous judicial experience before sitting on the nation's highest tribunal?

The Constitution doesn't say so. It doesn't even say a justice has to be a lawyer although all the justices in history have been.

But some critics of Earl Warren hold it against him that he did not have previous experience on the bench before he was named chief justice in 1953. History is against the critics.

There have been 13 chief justices, 14 if John Rutledge of South Carolina is included. But he presided only four months and then left after the Senate failed to approve him.

Of the 13, only five had previous judicial experience in state or lower federal courts. So Warren is among the majority who didn't have that background.

There have been a number of attempts in the Senate to impose experience requirements on would-be justices. They got nowhere. Nor did several recent tries by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

He proposed that every other man appointed to the high court must have at least 10 years' previous experience on lower federal courts or state courts.

Only one chief justice in American history could have met that requirement: President William Howard Taft who was chief justice from 1921 to 1930. He served three years as an Ohio judge and eight as a federal circuit judge before joining the Supreme Court.

Further, not one of the nine justices now on the court could have qualified. Besides Warren, Justices Abe Fortas, Byron R. White, William O. Douglas and Tom C. Clark had no previous judicial experience.

It's questionable whether Justice Hugo L. Black could have qualified as having any previous judicial experience. He served about a year as a police court judge in Birmingham, Ala.

The other three justices had some previous judicial experience but none as much as 10 years.

William J. Brennan was on New Jersey's high courts eight years; Potter Stewart served five on the U.S. Court of Appeals; and John M. Harlan put in one on the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Besides Warren, the chief justices who had no previous judicial experience outside the Supreme Court were: John Marshall, Roger B. Taney, Salmon P. Chase, Morrison R. White, Melville W. Fuller, Charles Evans Hughes and Harlan F. Stone.

Those with previous experience were John J. Jay, for a brief time chief justice of the New York Supreme Court; Oliver Ellsworth, four years on the Connecticut Superior Court; Edward D. White, one year on the Louisiana Supreme Court; and Frederick M. Vinson, for five years a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals.

When Warren reached 75 last Saturday and said he had no intention of retiring, there was some speculation he might continue until he had set a record for service.

This seems unlikely. To set such a record he'd have to serve another 22 years for a total of 95 years but by then he'd be 97. The longest service by any justice was that of S. J. Field, an associate justice, who served 34 years, eight months, 15 days, and retired in 1897 at 81.

Coal Miners in Threat of Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unions which represent 100,000 soft coal miners and 34,000 airline mechanics are threatening to strike in support of demands for pay increases which exceed the administration's wage guidelines.

Neither threatened walkout is imminent, however.

At a New York meeting Wednesday, the National Policy Committee of the Independent United Mine Workers of America urged union officers the light to call a strike to support efforts to gain a 4 per cent pay raise for the 100,000 soft coal workers in 25 states.

After Observing Writer Is of Opinion Middle Age Is Really Hard on Cats Too

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Middle age must be hard on cats, too. This theory is based on the increasingly erratic behavior of our cat, Lady Dottie.

In kittenhood and early youth her department was model. She was dainty, playful, affectionate and so intelligent that I was considering trying to get her into Harvard—on an athletic scholarship.

She learned early to use her box in my bathroom. She let the children on our apartment floor lug her around as if she were a doll. She rarely scratched them, even when they tweaked her tail.

Lady Dottie went through infancy, adolescence and early adulthood without suffering any really noticeable personality change.

But now that she is on the threshold of middle age and her whiskers are turning grayer, something seems to have come over her. Not being a cat psychiatrist, I can see it only as a kind of rebellion against life—so often seen in middle-aged human beings.

Lady Dottie looks long at herself in the mirror, shakes her head grimly, and stalks away.

She is full of whims and melancholy, as moody and unpredictable as March weather.

Having lost her own youth, she seems to resent youth in others. If any of the kids try to hug her, she growls like a tiger, and they drop her quickly.

She has a preference for older people. She seems to have adopted me lately. She likes to sleep at the foot of my bed. In the morning she follows me into the bathroom, rubs against my legs, and gravely watches me shave.

"I do believe Lady Dottie has got a crush on you," said my wife, Frances.

Lady Dottie quixotically seeks and evades attention.

Like many aging people, she has become finicky about her meals. If at night we give her canned fish instead of freshly warmed beef kidney, she takes a subtle revenge. After we are asleep, she goes into the living room and throws up the canned fish squarely in the middle of the rug.

She isn't allergic to it. She is just determined to have her own way—in this as in everything.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) —

Among the many stars missing from the Academy Awards bash on April 18 will be Tony Curtis. He frankly explains why.

Attendance by stars at the Oscar event has dwindled in late years to nominees, past winners and few other names who can be inveigled into acting as presenters. Most other stars stay away.

Why don't the stars turn out? "I'll tell you why I won't," volunteered Tony Curtis. "It's because the Oscars are used to sell cookies and shampoo. I won't appear for the same reason I stay off all television: I don't want to be in the position of being used to sell cookies or shampoo."

"I know of 10 other stars who feel the same way. Oh, they may offer some phony excuse — they're going to be out of town or some damned thing. But the real reason is that the Oscar show is sponsored, so why should they lend their names to it?"

Curtis was unimpressed by the news that the Oscarcast is not selling cookies or shampoo this year but is sponsored by Eastman Kodak.

"I don't care who the sponsor is," he insisted. "Why should the motion picture industry have to go to strangers for charity? That's what it looks like when we allow our most important event to be used to sell other products."

"I have a better idea. Let the studios contribute $100,000 apiece and put the show on without any commercials. Just make the award presentations and show the world: This is our best work and we're proud of it."

Curtis pooh-poohed the suggestion that the film companies might be too poor to put on the Oscar show.

"Are you kidding? The studios are shoveling money. This is the only business in which the companies take the money out and don't put anything back in."

Economics aside, Curtis yearned for the good old days before his time, when the Academy was a cozy industry affair.

"Cary Grant told me how it used to be," he said. "The people in the business would rent the Cocoanut Grove for the night, and everybody would be there. It was like saying, 'Here, Spencer Tracy, here's an Oscar for doing the best acting this year.' Everyone would toast each other and go home happy. Why can't it be that way now?"

Space Ship Had 'Hot Spots'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An unmanned Apollo spaceship sent on a test flight last Feb. 26 developed "hot spots" as it plunged back to earth.

Project officials said the 11,000-pound spacecraft will get improved insulation as a result of the test.

The sketch in which Carol and Zero Mostel played abickering couple who had been wed 10 dreary years, was carefully built around the abrupt change in their attitude when they suddenly learned that they were not legally married after all. It would have been funnier if Carol's reaction had not been completely slapstick.

Best number of the hour had the two feminine stars playing a couple of cleaning women in a theatrical agency making big show biz deals and casting million-dollar movies based on snippets of information gleaned from executive wastebaskets.

Zero Mostel, a rare television visitor, never had a chance to demonstrate the talents that have made him a Broadway comedy favorite.

Everybody Concerned About Future

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) —

Everybody watches the Red dragon, the Red dragon looks in the mirror and likes what it sees, and the future shudders.

All through these past few months in the debate about the war in Viet Nam there has been one overriding concern: that Red China might step in, involving the United States in a massive land war in Asia.

The Johnson administration, to calm fears that through any helter-skelter tactics it stumble into war with Red China, has tried to spread assurance that it would conduct the Vietnamese war with restraint.

This puts the United States in the position of fighting a war with one hand tied behind its back. But the Johnson administration has to worry about Red China and American public opinion, too.

Says Democrats Will Hold Own

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Democrats will hold their own in the elections this year says Cliff Carter, executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

Carter told a group of party Tex. (AP) — One of the United States' original astronauts, Virgil I. Grissom, almost drowned in off-year congressional elections in 1961 when his Mercury capsule sank after he became the first American to rocket into space.

This business of keeping the Americans guessing is an inexpensive weapon for the Chinese since they know, as President Johnson knows, the last thing this country wants is a land war with a nation with 700 million people, like Red China.

It could fight the war at home. The United States could never match it in manpower and would have to transport men and weapons half way around the world to fight at all.

The United States could, of course, demolish Red China and its people, by using some of its nuclear weapons. That might be even more hazardous.

One Nearly Drowned in Capsule

SPACE CENTER, Houston

Virgil I. Grissom, almost drowned in off-year congressional elections in 1961 when his Mercury capsule sank after he became the first American to rocket into space.

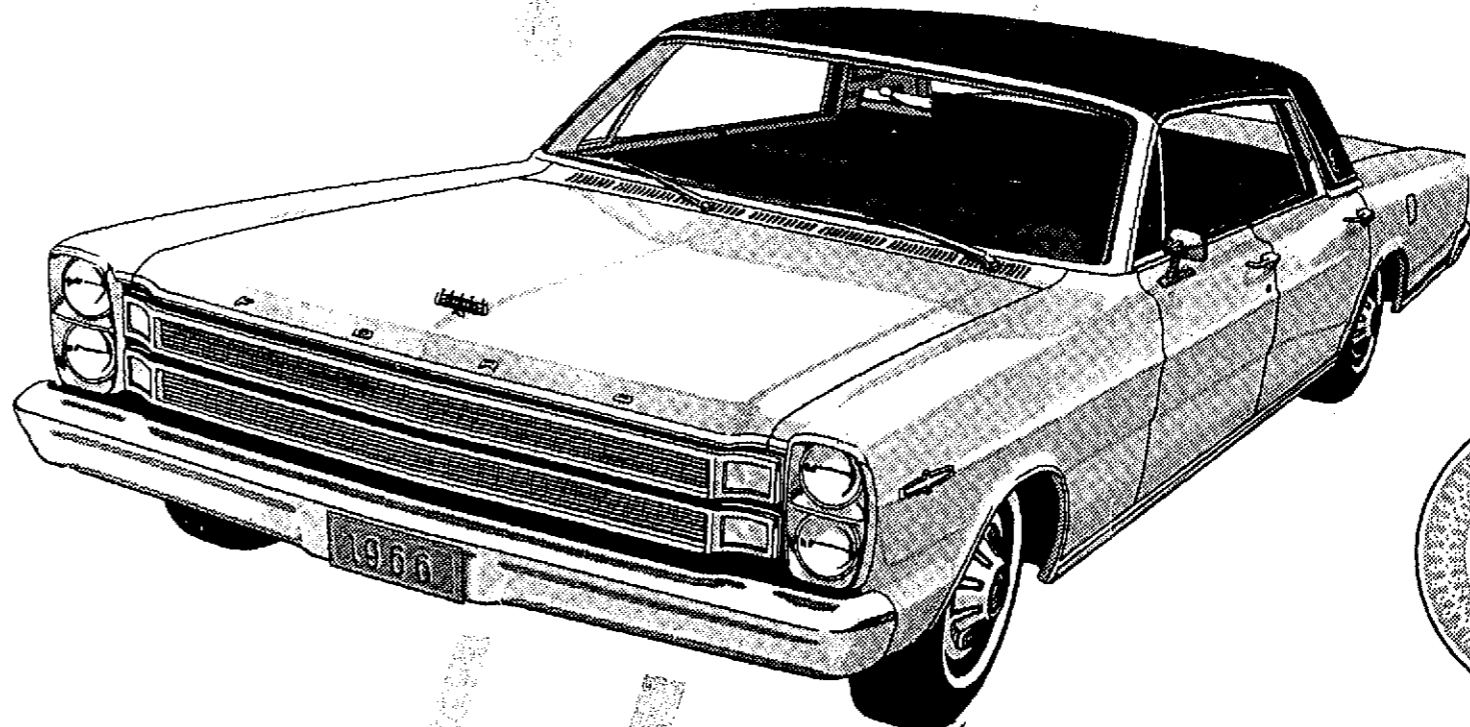

About four years later, he took his second space ride — the first man to do so — as command pilot on the maiden mission of the two-man Gemini program.

Now, he is back again, to launch another project. The short, crewcut Air Force lieutenant colonel will be commander aboard the nation's first three-man spaceship, an Apollo craft like one designed to carry men to the moon.

Grissom, Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee were named Monday to take an Apollo spacecraft on a shakedown cruise of up to 14 days in earth orbit.

Explaining The Tax Program

The government was working up a modest new tax program last week -- something that politicians hate to do in an election year -- and we overheard Mr. Brown trying to explain the idea to Mr. Smith.

Said Mr. Smith: "I don't understand it. Last year, or the year before, Congress cut taxes to get the economy moving. Now they're raising taxes." "The government needs more tax revenue to fight the Viet Nam War," said Mr. Brown. "But they got more revenue when they cut taxes," Mr. Smith objected. "In fact, that was the reason they gave for the tax cut."

"That's true," Mr. Brown agreed, "but now the economy is all heated up and they can't push it any farther without running into inflation. They figure they have to skim off some of the people's money or there will be more buyers than there will be things to buy. That drives up prices and causes inflation."

"But if they cool off the economy, won't that reduce the gross national product and cause the government to lose more in taxes than the tax increases will create?" "Maybe not for a while," said Mr. Brown. "Unemployment is down below 4 per cent -- which means that nearly everybody employable is working. It's time to put on the brakes."

Mr. Smith shifted his tactics. "If the government is putting the brakes on the economy and skimming the cream off the consumer's income, how come it isn't practicing what it preaches? The war in Viet Nam is skimming the cream off its income, so why does the President keep on proposing new social and cultural programs? And if everybody employable is employed, why do we have to fight poverty so hard and so expensively?"

"You'll have to excuse me," said Mr. Brown. "I have to catch my bus." -- Huntingtower (W. Va.) Herald-Advertiser

Action Speaks Louder Than Smiles In Politics

A spokesman for the National Laugh Foundation says that "women enjoy themselves more" than men, that "men take life and politics too seriously" and that therefore "women would be better politicians than men." He adds: "We're grooming a girl to run for President. Her secret weapon is wearing a smile."

Well, what's this guy trying to be funny? Aside from his gratuitous and questionable remarks about male political competence, we ask, soberly and rhetorically, whether anyone knows of politicians of either sex who DON'T wear smiles?

Here are two politicians who hate each other's guts, meeting, and smiling for the camera. There is a politician demanding to reduce the tragedy of 50,000 deaths by automobile in a year, and he smiles. A congressman visits a hospital in Viet Nam and seeing boys grilling their teeth or sobbing in pain, smiles as his picture is snapped.

Are we against wit and enjoyment in this vale of tears? Of course not. But we've just come to the point where we don't smile back at politicians who act as if they're selling toothpaste. We're beginning to think that some of them would do better at it than at making laws.

Commission Asks for $5 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission has applied for almost $5 million in federal funds for park improvements and development of a new one — the Francis Forest in Lee County.

The application, made under the federal Economic Development Act, was for $4,932,200 and the federal money would be matched with $3,549,800 in state funds.

A planning consultant for the commission said priority on the funds would go toward constructing utilities at park sites and other facilities. Preliminary plans, the spokesman said, also call for swimming pools, tent camping sites, trailer camping sites, pavilions, playing fields and bathhouses.

Park sites which would receive funds are: Mammoth Spring, Whitrow Spring, Queen Wilhelmina, Bull Shoals, Mountburg on Lake Fort Smith, Lake Catherine, Crowley's Ridge, Buffalo River and Daisy.

Farm Bureau Service Will Help Industry

Hempstead County Farm Bureau has organized a Broiler Grower Service designed to improve growth of the industry and improve producers income.

President, Lester Kent, of the Hempstead County Farm Bureau, said the program will be operated and financed by farmers and will be guided on the county level by a Broiler Grower Committee.

Members of the committee are: Mr. Troy Burson, Finis Odom, Johnnie Kramer, A. Z. Turner, Mrs. Ray Carter, and Gordon Pescott.

Mr. Kent said 824,500 broiler house capacity signed up Tuesday night in first meeting in the county.

The county program is part of Arkansas Farm Bureau's Broiler Grower Service and the belt-wide broiler grower organization of American Farm Bureau Federation.

Hempstead County members will have the services of leading broiler production and marketing experts, plus the facilities of American Farm Bureau's Trade Development offices in Rotterdam, The Netherlands, & Chicago.

Among the Services to the members will be a comprehensive broiler market report, research information on contracts, production costs and feed conversion, conferences with other segments of the industry to gain understanding of trends and problems, and analysis of factors relating to grower earnings and contract responsibilities.

Hempstead County's big and growing broiler industry adds a lot to the buying power of this territory. Broiler growers can help make the industry more stable and prosperous by joining the Broiler Grower Service. Broiler growers, call Hempstead County Farm Bureau now and learn how you may become a member of the Broiler Grower Service.

Exile Seeks to Unmask Castro Spies

By THEODORE A. EDIGER, MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The silver voice of a comely exile invades Cuba five nights weekly seeking to unmask Fidel Castro's vast internal spy network.

She feels certain she plays a vital role in what she described as a mushrooming discontent within Castro's armed forces.

The broadcasts by brown-haired Pepita Riera, purport to tell people inside Cuba who is spying on them.

"I am on Fidel's most wanted and most hated list," said Miss Riera, secure in her secret den in this exile haven. "I don't like him either."

In her hideaway, Miss Riera tapes broadcasts such as: "Attention Cuba, attention Cuba, beware of Juan Doe, he is a chivato (informant)." She then identifies the neighborhood where he operates.

In her 15-minute broadcasts, which refugees arriving by airlift say have become one of the most popular radio programs in Cuba, Miss Riera also warns members of the armed forces of informers in their ranks. She urges soldiers to rebel.

"There is very much anti-Communist infiltration within Fidel's armed forces," the exile said, citing recent arrests of officers. "But they are afraid because they don't know whether the person next to them is an informer. I try to make things easier for them."

She says she gets her information from counterespionage who make secret trips to Cuba.

Currently, Miss Riera said, she is concentrating on unmasking informers within the interior ministry. Castro's G2 (secret police) operates from that department.

Miss Riera, who is in her early 40s, was in a convent of the Roman Catholic Order of the Sacred Heart six and one-half years.

She joined Castro's forces in the Sierra Maestra during the revolution that overthrew Fulgencio Batista in 1959.

"They taught me to use a gun, but I never did," she said. "I did radio broadcasting and was a teacher for soldiers."

Rest Of 2nd Marine Div. To Viet Nam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN, AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon censors have erred. They cleared public testimony disclosing that the rest of a second Marine division is destined for South Viet Nam.

The disclosure was made in a sentence deep in a 25-page formal statement by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze for a Senate group Thursday.

Speaking of an additional 85,200 Marines planned for the entire corps, Nitze said that, among other things, this manpower increase "will provide the rotation base for us to deploy the remainder of a second Marine division to Viet Nam."

It is a matter of public record that the entire 3rd Marine Division already is in Viet Nam, and that most of the 1st Marine Division has joined it there over a period of months. Reporters have known that additional battalions from the 1st Marine Division are due in Viet Nam soon. But they have refrained from writing this to avoid any possible danger to the troops or any possible aid to the enemy.

Although Nitze did not identify the Marine division involved, anybody who has been watching the flow of news from the war theater would know which one it was.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester asked news media in the United States last year to exercise self-censorship.

On Dec. 30, he requested that the media cooperate "and continue to refrain voluntarily from publishing or broadcasting any stories or photographs concerning troop unit deployments to Viet Nam" until their arrival is announced by U.S. military authorities.

As with all such presentations, Nitze's testimony was read by the Pentagon security review office before copies were distributed to newsmen on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon.

McClellan Gets Bill Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., got support Thursday for his bill which would outlaw membership in the Mafia and other crime syndicates.

On Tuesday, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said he thought the bill might raise questions about its constitutionality.

Urging Congress to pass the bill were Kentucky Atty. Gen. Robert Matthews and Police Chief William Lombard of Rochester, N.Y.

They spoke before a special Senate Judiciary subcommittee of which McClellan is chairman. McClellan has introduced six anticrime measures.

Matthews, who represented the Southern Association of Attorneys General, said the bill would strike at the root of organized crime.

Lombard said enactment of the bill would be "the most devastating blow ever dealt the hierarchy of organized crime throughout the nation."

Dorsey May Try Again for Gov.

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — Cedell Dorsey of Sheridan said Thursday night he may make another bid for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Dorsey, runnerup to Gov. Orval Faubus in the 1964 Democratic primary, pointed out that when he conceded defeat in that race he had said, "We will be back."

Faubus who won the primary without a runoff, polled 29,630 votes to Dorsey's 6,818 in the four-man race.

"We're looking real hard at the situation," Dorsey said Thursday night.

Thai Bandits Are Executed

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Six Thai bandits were executed by a firing squad Thursday in a troop-ringed temple courtyard, only 150 yards away from a market where they killed five persons in a raid last December.

Comm. Says Resolution Is Harmless

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A resolution requiring teacher education institutions to recommend graduates on the basis of their personal qualities has almost nothing to do with morals, an education official said Thursday.

Curtis R. Swaim, assistant state education commissioner, said the resolution was really rather harmless.

The resolution adopted March 14 said the institution's recommendation for certification also should state whether the prospective teacher "is recommended as a person who has the qualities necessary for successful teaching."

Swaim said the resolution might apply to morals only in cases where the student had an obvious delinquency that made him unfit as a teacher. The Arkansas Education Association and Professional Standards suggested that the State Board of Education adopt the resolution.

Bandits Hijack Armored Car

LONDON (AP) — Two bandits disguised as security guards hijacked an armored car in the center of London today and got away with about 20,000 pounds ($46,000) in cash.

Interchange on I-40 Proposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A delegation from the Altus area asked the state Highway Commission Wednesday for an interchange on Interstate 40 so that tourists would come to the area.

Grape growers led the delegation, which said that not only Altus but Denning and Alix, also grape and wine centers, would benefit from the interchange.

The wine industry needs good roads not only to ship grapes and wines but also to help a brisk tourist business, a spokesman said.

Hostages Are Freed After 9 Hour Ordeal

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (AP) — A Springfield man said he was beginning to expect that he and his wife would be shot to death until police fired tear gas into their house, allowing their escape from an ex-convict who held them prisoner for nine terrifying hours.

A few moments after the clear gas exploded Thursday afternoon, the ex-convict, Harry Acree, 35, shot himself to death with a pistol.

"If they would have waited another hour to fire that tear gas, I think we would have all been dead," said Charles Fawbush, 46, the hostage.

Fawbush, still nervous from the day's ordeal, spoke from a room next to his wife's hospital room. "My wife had a heart operation a few years ago and she's not supposed to get excited," said Fawbush.

"There were a few times when I didn't think she was going to make it."

Mrs. Fawbush was under treatment for shock.

Fawbush said that just before the end Acree "began to get meaner and meaner. At the last he said these words: 'I shot that dump cop and I haven't got a thing to lose. I've got two bullets in this gun and I can make both of them count.'"

Fawbush said that after a policeman yelled that they were going to fire tear gas, Acree sat in the chair with a gun pointed at Fawbush and his wife.

"I guess I just acted by reflex when the tear gas came through the window. I grabbed my wife's arm with one hand and the door with the other and pushed her out the door. Then I went out."

The day of terror was similar to another drama in nearby Eugene a week ago when a gunman persuaded police to give him an automobile. The gunman, Harvey LeRoy Baker, 33, and his hostages, the Marvin Keeler family, drove through downtown Eugene in the car. When police closed in, a single shot killed Baker. The Keelers were not hurt.

The Springfield drama began when Acree called to the Fawbush house after Patrolman Terrence Wilso, 24 was shot in the stomach Thursday morning when he and other officers searched an auto with expired license plates. Acree and two companions were in the car. Acree shot Wilso after the officer found a shotgun in the car. A fellow officer arrested the two companions.

Goldwater Tours Space Center

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Barry Goldwater, former Arizona senator and Republican candidate for president in 1964, toured this space center as an Air Force major general Thursday.

The 4th district seat he has been vacant since Rep. Oren Harris resigned to become a federal judge Feb. 3. A special election to select a successor has been delayed because of a court suit over the boundaries of the district.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Two Hempstead County students played with the Southern State College concert band on its spring tour March 22-24. The tour includes concerts at Fairview, Lewisville, Magnolia, Samckover and Stamps High Schools.

Patricia Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Davis, played clarinet with the band. She is a junior music education major, a member of DaCapo, Tau Beta and the Intercollegiate Band. Brenda Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Evans, Hope, played flute with her concert band. She is a sophomore business education major, is a member of Chi Alpha, The Town and Gown Choir and the Concert Choir at Southern State.

Carl Bramlett, Lion Oil distributor in the Hope area, was honored guest at a dinner-show held earlier this week at the Barton Junior High School cafeteria in El Dorado. A talking "Lion" led the traveling troop of nine actors and speakers representing Lion Oil Company. About 200 service station dealers and distributors were present.

He said Congress is excellent, but not benign able to get out and see the people, even though this is temporary, eases this possibility," Jones said. "With this in mind I have been advised not to continue in the race for Congress. I am very disappointed, but maybe there will be another day."

Jones paid his $500 filing fee to Secretary of State Kelly Bryant in cash. He is entitled to a refund of the $750 he paid to file for Congress.

Jones' withdrawal leaves four announced Democratic candidates in the Congressional race — Dean Murphy of Texarkana, David Pryor of Camden, Richard Arnold of Texarkana and Charles Honey of Prescott.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid predictions that the soybean support price will be increased 10 to 15 cents per bushel, the House Agriculture Committee Wednesday shoved aside nine bills to increase production of the crop.

The current soybean support price is $2.25 a bushel. A spokesman for the Agriculture Department, which with the National Grange opposed legislation to increase production, said a change in the law this late in the spring would merely confuse farmers.

The committee chairman, Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., told reporters that the bills are "dead for all practical purposes."

5 Day Battle Operation Is Successful

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Five thousand U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops brought the fighting phase of Operation Texas to an end Thursday night and claimed 1,236 Communists killed or wounded in five days of battle in the central coastal plains.

Senior American and Vietnamese officers said the campaign in Quang Ngai Province, 350 miles north of Saigon, smashed an entire Viet Cong regiment, battered several more battalions and cleaned out five villages in an area long dominated by the Communists.

Allied losses were described as light, although some small assault units took heavy punishment during helicopter landings.

As the Leathernecks used 6,000 pounds of dynamite to blow up abandoned Communist fortifications today, other Marines began a new "Operation Kings" to protect the rice harvest farther north near Da Nang.

Two Viet Cong companies opened up on the Marines with mortar shells, inflicting some casualties, but officers said the Americans killed six Viet Cong and captured two weapons.

Otherwise ground action was most static. But U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew 42 strike missions against North Viet Nam Thursday concentrating again on communications facilities to hamper the flow of men and supplies to the Viet Cong.

An Air Force spokesman announced the loss of two American aircraft Thursday.

An Air Force F105 crashed in North Viet Nam 15 miles northwest of Dong Hoi while on an armed reconnaissance mission. The spokesman said no parachute was observed, and the pilot was listed as missing. Heavy anti-aircraft and automatic weapon fire was reported in the area at the time.

A big Army Chinook CH47 helicopter carrying a 105-howitzer and ammunition was shot down by ground fire 10 miles north of an area where the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division troops. The spokesman said there were light casualties. The Chinook normally carries a crew of four.

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky faced a threat of antigovernment violence from a student leader in the northern university city of Hue.

Nguyen Huu Giao, president of the student wing of a Buddhist political action group called "People's Struggle for the Revolution," gave Ky until Sunday to answer Buddhist demands for a popularly elected civilian government.

Giao said "there may be violence" if the government tries to block student demonstrations and warned, "There are plans for any move Ky may make. The students are well prepared."
